

On October 25, 2022, Kimberly Buehler (US Army Small Business Programs) will be presenting a webinar titled "Doing Business with the Army as a Small Business." The Department of the Army procures over $24 billion of products and services annually from small businesses, ranging from commercially available items to research and development for military-specific weapons systems platforms. Being "procurement ready" is key to successfully competing for Army contracting opportunities. In this webinar, you will learn about the Army's small business program. You will leave with key resources and points of contact for procurement opportunities. This is a must attend webinar for businesses interested in working with the Army!
